

Jillian Rosen

Vice President for Community Investment

As the Vice President for Community Investment at the Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation (AAACF), Jillian oversees AAACF's impact investing, grantmaking programs, community initiatives, and strategic partnerships. After earning her BA in anthropology from the University of Maryland, Jillian worked in the nonprofit sector where she worked on issues she is passionate about: social justice, poverty alleviation and youth engagement in philanthropy. Her initial experience in the nonprofit sector concretized her understanding of systemic injustice and fueled her desire to return to school at Brandeis University, where she received an MBA and a Masters in Nonprofit Professional Leadership. When her family determined to move to Ann Arbor, AAACF seemed like a perfect fit given Jillian's understanding of strategy, people, and what makes communities thrive. Jillian's belief in an ethos of tikkun olam, or repairing the world, gives her a passionate desire to make the world a better place through philanthropy and community partnerships. Most recently, she completed a two-year fellowship in place-based impact investing with Common Future, learning how to deepen philanthropic investment capital in service of community. Locally, Jillian serves on the board of the Jewish Community Center of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County's Continuum of Care Board, and the United Way of Washtenaw County's Community Impact Committee.
